RDT Jetro and VM Ware Israel Announce Cooperation for Application Publishing and Secure Web Browsing in COCKPIT4 Solutions at InfoSec 2010

June 2010 – In a joint presentation at InfoSec 2010, Airport City, Israel, RDT Jetro and VM Ware announced their plans for stronger cooperation and integration between Jetro's COCKPIT4 set of solutions and VM Ware's View 4 servers.

In a joint presentation RDT-Jetro CEO, Giora Shaked, and Aviv Wais, Lead Systems Engineer at VM Ware, discussed the challenges of managing heterogeneous environments where enterprises will need to manage local PCs, Terminal servers as well as VDI.

VMware (NYSE: VMW), is the global leader in cloud infrastructure, delivering customer-proven virtualization solutions that significantly reduce IT complexity. The company's View 4 is the industry's first purpose built solution for delivering desktops as a managed service. The View 4 helps transform desktop management into a simplified and automated process, reducing the total cost of desktop ownership by 50%, and providing end users a consistent high performance desktop experience.

In Presenting VM Ware, Aviv Wais Lead Systems Engineer said "We chose RDT Jetro as their revolutionary COCKPIT4i is clearly leading the market and our customers have requested to add View 4 support to the solution."

"Being the de facto standard in secure browsing for regulated industries, we have found a need from our customers to integrate VDI to our offering. We are very excited about working with the recognized industry leader in this field." Said Shaked. "By strengthening our cooperation with VM Ware and including View 4 support in our offering, we are enhancing our solutions portfolio and allow enhanced user experience for COCKPIT customers."
