RDT-Jetro Strengthens Its Management Team: Guy Ziv Joins as VP for Product Marketing

November, 2009 -RDT Jetro, a leading vendor of server-based application delivery and virtualization software solutions today announced that Guy Ziv will join its management team as Vice President for Product Marketing. Mr. Ziv has over a decade of experience in the field of IT Security and System Administration. For the past two years, prior to joining Jetro, he was Sales Director (Europe) for Waterfall Security Solutions, a leading provider of unidirectional IT security solutions for critical infrastructures. Before that Ziv held a number of managerial IT positions, where he gained hands-on experience with a variety of network security technologies in company ies such as at Samsung Electronics (Israeli R&D Center), Vcom Telecommunications and EDSL.

"Guy Ziv brings with him a vast experience working with customers in leading European and North American agencies, critical national infrastructures and financial institutions," said Giora Shaked, CEO of RDT Jetro. "He has deep technological know-how dealing with network security, and since he spent a part of his career on the corporate side, he has an excellent understanding of the customers' needs and requirements. Guy's addition to the management team strengthens our product marketing capabilities and will help us to bring more value to our growing customer base."

"I am delighted to be joining the RDT Jetro's leadership team at this exciting time in the company's growth and I'm looking forward to assisting in its global expansion", said Guy Ziv. "RDT Jetro has a unique, robust and field proven solution for secure browsing and printing. With the new COCKPIT-4 solution application delivery has become easier and more seamless than ever before, all this while delivering measurable ROI and lower Total Cost of Ownership than competing solutions."
